About these metrics · KPIs and charts are calculated on regular posts only. Outliers (engagement far above the rest: more than the third quartile + 3 times the interquartile range, usually paid media or an isolated viral) are excluded so they don't distort trends, and are listed separately under Posts. Engagement = likes + comments. Engagement rate = average engagement per post ÷ followers.

FINDINGS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

WHAT THE DATA SAYS AND WHAT TO DO ABOUT IT

Analysis based on this account's actual metrics for the period; every figure comes from this dashboard.

SYNTHESIS

Between June and October, @sendwaveappbrasil published 70 regular posts with 15,649 interactions (224 per post) and a 0.57% engagement rate on 39,022 followers. The account was reactivated in August and its performance depends on creators: the brand's own content generates almost no interaction, regardless of format.

01 The account went from 3 posts in June and 6 in July to 14 in August, 27 in September and 20 in October.

Total engagement rose from 163 in June to 8,234 in August and 5,082 in September. Reactivating the account in August multiplied both presence and interaction.

The foundation for growth is in place; the challenge now is to sustain the pace without losing performance per post.

Action: Sustain 5 to 6 posts per week, the September–October pace.

PRIORITY HIGH EFFORT MEDIUM

02

Creator collaborations average 459 interactions per post (26 posts).

The brand's own content averages 84 interactions per post (44 posts); overall, creators generate 76% of engagement. In Brazil, as in LATAM, the audience responds to creators, not to institutional messages.

The brand's own posts take up calendar space without driving interaction.

Action: Move product messages (Pix, exchange rate, security) to a creator format or a real person on camera.

03

The brand's 44 own posts have a median of 24 interactions: its carousels average 105 and its reels 66.

Half of the creator collaborations exceed 321 interactions. It is not a format problem but a question of who is speaking: without a creator, no format takes off.

Switching own content from carousel to reel is not enough on its own; it needs a face to tell it.

Action: Move the brand's own messages to creators or employees on camera, and keep carousels for save-worthy content (promo code steps, tips).

PRIORITY MEDIUM EFFORT MEDIUM

04 Monday is the best day (436 average interactions), followed by Sunday (292) and Friday (255).

Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday stay between 104 and 123. The Brazilian audience responds best at the start and end of the week.

Posts often go out on Thursdays (12 posts), one of the weakest days.

Action: Concentrate main collaborations on Mondays and Sundays, and test 10:00 AM (Bogotá time), the slot with the best response.

PRIORITY MEDIUM EFFORT LOW

05 7 posts exceed 2,016 interactions and are treated as outliers; the largest reached 22,028 (an August 25 collaboration about living in the United States).

The median regular post gets 45 interactions. Immigrant-life topics, told by creators, are the ones that can go viral.

There is a proven content territory that is still underused.

Action: Build a recurring creator series about Brazilian life abroad (costs, paperwork, curiosities).

PRIORITY MEDIUM EFFORT MEDIUM

ACTION PLAN

PRIORITIZED RECOMMENDATIONS

1 Sustain the reactivation

Keep 5 to 6 posts per week, as in September and October, prioritizing Mondays, Fridays and Sundays.

Medium effort | High impact | 30 days

2

Put faces on the brand's own content

Collaborations perform more than five times better than the brand's own content (459 vs. 84 interactions per post). Move product and education content to creators or employees on camera.

Medium effort | High impact | 30-60 days

3

Life-abroad series

The account's virals talk about the immigrant experience. Turn it into a recurring series with creators.

Medium effort | Medium impact | 60-90 days
