EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

1. Creators are the engine. 86% of @sendwaveapp_latam's engagement comes from creators: collaborations make up 2 out of 3 posts and average 949 interactions, three times the brand's own content (310).
2. Everything hinges on a handful of virals. 35 outlier posts added up to 1.32 million interactions, 7.6 times what the other 236 generated combined. The largest, a collaboration from October 2, reached 485,152 on its own.
3. Posts go out at the wrong time. Tuesdays and Wednesdays perform twice as well as Fridays (977 and 946 vs. 474 interactions per post), and the most used time (7:00 PM) is not the best: posts between 10:00 AM and 4:00 PM exceed 1,000.

About these metrics · KPIs and charts are calculated on regular posts only. Outliers (engagement far above the rest: more than the third quartile + 3 times the interquartile range, usually paid media or an isolated viral) are excluded so they don't distort trends, and are listed separately under Posts. Engagement = likes + comments. Engagement rate = average engagement per post ÷ followers.

POSTS

THE POSTS THAT CONNECTED THE MOST AND THE LEAST

The 5 outliers with the most interactions, followed by the 5 regular posts with the highest and the lowest engagement.

KEY POINTS

- The virals come from creators. 4 of the 5 outliers are collaboration reels. The largest, from October 2, reached 485,152 interactions and 9.4 million views.
- Five posts outweigh everything else. The 5 outliers add up to 712,417 interactions, 4 times what the 236 regular posts achieved combined (172,839).
- Among regular posts, the pattern holds. 4 of the 5 best are also creator reels, with 4,715 to 6,449 interactions each.
- Collaborating doesn't guarantee results. 4 of the 5 weakest are also collaborations, with 1 to 5 interactions, even though one passed 16,000 views. The choice of creator matters more than the format.

Top 5 outlier posts

The account had 35 outlier posts in the period (engagement above 6,698 interactions). The 5 with the most interactions are shown; they are not counted in KPIs or charts.

FINDINGS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

WHAT THE DATA SAYS AND WHAT TO DO ABOUT IT

Analysis based on this account's actual metrics for the period; every figure comes from this dashboard.

SYNTHESIS

Between June and October, @sendwaveapp_latam published 236 regular posts with 172,839 interactions (732 per post) and a 0.64% engagement rate on 114,757 followers. The account works mainly as a showcase for creators: two out of three posts are collaborations and they generate 86% of engagement; the brand's own content, carousels in particular, performs far below.

01 66% of regular posts (156 of 236) are creator collaborations, averaging 949 interactions per post.

The brand's own content averages 310 interactions per post (80 posts); overall, creators generate 86% of engagement. The audience responds to creators' faces and voices, not to institutional content.

The account's performance depends on the creator program: if collaboration volume drops, total engagement falls.

Action: Keep collaborations at the core and track which creators drive the most interactions per post, renewing the best ones.

PRIORITY HIGH EFFORT MEDIUM

02 Reels average 842 interactions; carousels, 61.

The gap is even wider in the brand's own content: its reels average 439 and its carousels 23, 19 times less. On this account, carousels generate virtually no conversation.

Every carousel takes a calendar slot that a reel would use much better.

Action: Turn the product and community messages now published as carousels into short reels with a person on camera.

PRIORITY HIGH EFFORT MEDIUM

03 August had the best engagement per post (1,126) with 38 posts; September doubled the volume (76 posts) and dropped to 711.

June and July were around 535 and 678 interactions per post with 44 and 48 posts. Posting more did not translate into more interaction per post: September's volume diluted performance.

There is a point where adding posts stops paying off and saturates the feed.

Action: Set a cadence of 9 to 10 posts per week and prioritize creator quality over quantity.

PRIORITY MEDIUM EFFORT LOW

04 Tuesdays (977) and Wednesdays (946) have the best average engagement; Fridays drop to 474.

The most used time is 7:00 PM (26 posts), but the 10:00 AM to 4:00 PM slots exceed 1,000 average interactions. The best windows are midweek and midday, not in the evening.

Moving key posts to those slots can lift performance without producing more content.

Action: Schedule launches and main collaborations on Tuesdays and Wednesdays between 10:00 AM and 4:00 PM (Bogotá time).

PRIORITY MEDIUM EFFORT LOW

05 35 posts exceed 6,698 interactions and are treated as outliers; the largest reached 485,152 (a collaboration from October 2).

The 35 outliers added up to 1.32 million interactions, 7.6 times what the other 236 posts generated combined (median regular post: 179). A few creator virals generate huge spikes, likely boosted with paid media.

Those spikes inflate any average; that is why the dashboard KPIs exclude them and analyze them separately.

Action: Identify what the virals have in common (creator, humor, format) and replicate that brief in upcoming collaborations.
